

2006 Night Vision. China Attack.

I dreamed that it was evening and that I was inside in some type of structure in a hilly area with trees when suddenly I heard a huge swarm of military planes coming from the West.

When I looked and saw, they looked to be a multitude of bomber type, attack type, aircraft that you would expect to see in an older, conventional type of warfare, like as in WWII. Then, almost immediately, artillery shells were flying everywhere and perforating my building everywhere to the point where it was amazing that it was still standing; and I realized that the Chinese were attacking the West Coast.

The holes left by this artillery appeared to be 2 to 3 inches in diameter, and they were landing everywhere to where it was clear that there was no way to escape.

I dreamed that I was on top of the tower that I ran my materials elevator on and that the weather appeared to be overcast but dry when suddenly an earthquake hit, and when this earthquake hit, I saw all 3 of the towers fall at our worksite fall to the ground just like the twin towers on 911 did.

I sensed that what had happened to our work towers, is what happened to all of the buildings in downtown Portland, and sensed that this had been the largest earthquake to ever hit Portland.

2006 Night Vision. NY Missile Strike.

I appeared to be in the Southern part of the United States, and there was a large body of water was behind me, and a land mass to my right.

There was water on the other side of the land mass, creating the appearance of the Florida panhandle when suddenly I saw a streak go quickly over our heads in the sky from behind my right shoulder. It sounded and looked like a missile, and it was very loud as it flew over.

The sound from it was deafening, and it went from the horizon behind me to the horizon in front of me, and somewhat diagonal towards the right, towards New York and disappeared over the horizon in what appeared to be just a matter of seconds. And then soon thereafter there was a huge explosion that occurred somewhere in the Northeastern part of the United States. I had the impression that it was New York. And the blast was so powerful that it could be heard and felt several states away. And it, likewise, lit up a good portion of the Northern horizon

2006 Night Vision. NW Volcanic Eruption.

I dreamed that the earth shook suddenly and violently, when suddenly chunks of a mountain came flying through the air. A chunk almost hit us, and it was the size of a good 2000 square foot home. It was a terrifying sight to see, and I saw that even my friend's town as far south as Lebanon, Oregon was affected by this eruption.

So I and my wife and others fled until we found what appeared to be a safe place to stay. But when I looked at the people who lived in this place where we had stopped, they were all caught up in lives of casually expressed sin with no fear or concern of the judgments which God had brought upon the NW. I dreamed that it was the day of the Sabbath when this event occurred.

2008 Day Vision. Newberg Bombing.

While living in Newberg I suddenly heard what sounded like WWII airplanes flying overhead, and bombs dropping and blasting as they hit all over Newberg. My wife heard the same thing, and so I went outside to see if I could see anything; but when I went outside, though I could still hear the bombs dropping plain as day, I could not see anything. The day vision lasted about 20 minutes.

2011 Night Vision. Asteroid Strike?

In this dream I was somewhere out in a semi-wooded area with a group of people, the location of which appeared to be about 30 miles or so from a large city, maybe less, when suddenly there was an extremely loud thunderous roaring from the sky that was so loud and deafening that had a person been standing next to me yelling in my ear, I would not have been able to hear them above the loudness of the noise.

The roaring was from an object shooting down to the earth from the sky. It was travelling extremely fast, so incredibly fast that from the time I first heard it, to the time I looked up to see what it was, to the time it took me to quickly say, "Father, forgive us of our sins", the object had already impacted the earth.

When this object impacted, it struck the large city described earlier; and the explosion was similar to that of a nuclear bomb; with a huge bright white flash.

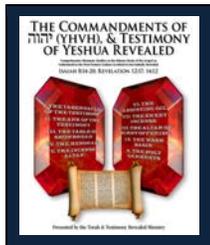

The flash which was then followed by a mushroom cloud. Everybody instantly dropped everything and ran to their vehicles and drove off in an attempt to outrun the blast or whatever else might befall us. There was no hesitation by anybody whatsoever.

But the winds created from the impact/blast overtook us and travelled that estimated 30 miles or so in just a matter of perhaps another 10 seconds. I thought for certain that we were all doomed to receive radiation poisoning at minimum; but somehow sensed that either there was no significant radiation from this event, or that we were supernaturally protected from it. I am not sure which one, I just sensed that none of us were going to receive radiation poisoning from this event; and then I woke up.

Though the object in this dream was not identified to me in the dream, I surmise in light of the incomprehensible speed with which the object travelled, along with the lack of radiation emanating from it after the impact, that the object was likely an asteroid. But it also could have been a missile, and we were just protected from the radiation, though I know of no manmade device that could travel at such incomprehensible speed.

2002 Day Vision. Giant Shofar.

In 2002 me and my wife heard a giant Shofar in the middle of the night. If one could guess the size of it based on how it sounded, one would guess it was about one mile in length, and being blown about 20 miles away. It was this year that the Gulf War took place.

After this, I began to have dreams and visions about judgments coming to the United States.
